

AIMS AND SCOPE

Ukrainian Linguistic Medieval Studies is a peer-reviewed scholarly periodical dedicated to the study of the history of the Ukrainian language and the historical development of Slavic languages within the context of medieval and early modern written culture.

The AIM of the scholarly periodical Ukrainian Linguistic Medieval Studies is to develop and popularize research in the field of the history of the Ukrainian language and other Slavic languages, related areas of historical linguistics, as well as the philological processing and introduction of new written monuments into scholarly discourse. The publication is designed to foster a scientific space for discussing issues in linguistic medievalism and to facilitate the integration of Ukrainian scholarship into the international Slavic studies context.

OBJECTIVES:

1. Strengthening Ukrainian historical linguistics as a vital component of modern humanities.
2. Integrating Ukrainian historical and linguistic studies into the international (Slavic) academic context.
3. Reconstructing historical linguistic processes and deepening knowledge regarding the formation of the Slavic linguistic space.
4. Highlighting issues and achievements in historical lexicography, etymology, and historical onomastics.
5. Researching and introducing ancient and medieval written texts into scholarly discourse.
6. Addressing theoretical and methodological issues in historical linguistics.
7. Publishing scholarly reviews, critiques of new publications, and information on scientific events in the field of historical linguistics.
8. Developing scientific cooperation between Ukrainian and foreign researchers.

SCOPE OF THE JOURNAL:

- History of the Ukrainian language;
- History of Slavic languages;
- Historical lexicography;
- Etymology;
- Historical onomastics;
- Linguistic source studies and editing;
- Paleography, textual criticism, and the history of written culture;
- Language contacts and mutual influences in the Slavic world;
- Theory and methodology of historical and linguistic research.