

PUBLICATION FEES

The scholarly periodical Ukrainian Linguistic Medieval Studies does not charge any fees for the submission, processing, peer review, or publication of scientific articles. The journal's editorial board adheres to the principles of openness and academic integrity, providing the opportunity to publish research results without any financial obligations on the part of the authors.

All submitted materials undergo a standard editorial review and peer-review process in accordance with the publication's established requirements. The decision to accept an article for publication is made solely on the basis of its scientific merit, the relevance of the research, its alignment with the journal's scope, and the author's compliance with technical and ethical standards for scholarly publications.

Consequently, the publication of materials in the journal is conducted on a no-fee basis, which fosters the development of scholarly communication and the dissemination of research findings in the field of historical linguistics.